Forgotten Books, United States, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The Training School Quarterly, Vol. 3: July, August, September, 1916 Acting upon a motion of the commission at the last annual meeting that the supervisor conduct industrial work on the Centennial playground, materials were purchased for the purpose and actual instruction begun. Instruction was given in basketry, weaving, sewing, wood-working, etc. Two periods a day, one in the morning and one in the afternoon, were devoted to this work, which soon became the most valuable, as well as the most popular, activity on the playground. Adults, as well as children, took advantage of this instruction, the attendance increasing over 50 per day as a result of the introduction of this feature on the grounds. The articles made were all use ful, rather than ornamental, although much of the work was elementary. Beginning today this work will again be conducted. At the conclusion of the summer it is planned to conduct a public exhibition of the handwork done upon the playgrounds. An additional sum, about $50, should be devoted toward this work for the coming summer. Last summer...
