This took place in the time of Cyrus, as is explained in Is. xlv. 1. With 4 b compare ibid. 2. 21. We must again return to the contents of the dream which Gabriel did not explain. There came from the west: supposed to be Alexander, who came from Alexandria. And none touched the ground: i. e. none confronted him from the time that he left Alexandria till he came to Babylon. He explains that the notable horn between his eyes is Alexander, the first king; and he goes on to describe what the he-goat did; he smote the ram and broke his two horns: i.e. he fought the two armies, sc. the force of Persia and Media; and he cast him down to the ground: referring to his conquering their territory, city by city, and slaying those of them who withstood him: probably he killed Artaxerxes the Persian, and when the news got into the provinces, none of them opposed Alexander any more. And there was none that could deliver: i. e. none fought for them any more. 22. 23. He said above (ver. 8), and when he was strong, the great horn was broken: i. e. when Alexander had accomplished his purpose he became tyrannical, and thereafter was broken: i. e. died. Four notable he interprets four kingdoms: g 3-3 42...
