She laughs as heartily as anyone when she has to remove her crown and get down on her face and pay the usual penalty. She is also very fond of jack-stones, and on rainy days spends hours on the back piazza playing this interesting game with the maids of honor at sixpence a corner. She usually pays when she loses. The climate of Wales seems to agree with Her Majesty. She is gaining in weight and her last summer s gowns have had to be let out several inches around the waist and back of the shoulder. With the exception of a slight indisposition caused by an unfortunate combination of broiled lobster and buttermilk, she has enjoyed the best of health. Her Majesty is also taking lessons in goat-milking. Mr. Felix P. Hennessey of Harlem, N.T., is her instructor and assures ui that...
